Daily Model Brief, November 2, 2026

No vendor changed a standard list price on a tracked model over the weekend. DeepSeek's Search and Fetch billing was due to start on Saturday, Moonshot's K2 cutoff for new accounts passed, and Mistral set April 30, 2027 as the retirement date for Mistral Medium 3.5 and Mistral Large 3.

Monday, November 2, 2026 · Prices as of 8:56 AM CT · Covers Friday, October 30 through this morning

Executive Summary

No vendor I track changed a standard list token price on a publicly available model since Friday's brief, and no new publicly available model launched over the weekend.

Both Saturday changes have now passed their start dates. DeepSeek's billing for Search and Fetch calls made through DeepSeek Harness, Claude Code and Codex was set to start at 11:00 AM CT on Saturday, October 31 (midnight November 1 in Beijing), at $0.75 per 1,000 successful requests each; DeepSeek still lists that price and start date this morning. Moonshot's notice that K2 models are no longer available to accounts registered from October 31 also still stands, and it still gives no retirement date more exact than the end of December.

Mistral deprecated Mistral Medium 3.5 (`mistral-medium-3-5`) and Mistral Large 3 (`mistral-large-2512`) on Saturday, October 31. Both stay callable until retirement on Friday, April 30, 2027, and Mistral names `mistral-large-4` as the replacement. Mistral no longer lists prices for either model.

OpenAI listed two limited-access models. GPT-6 Rosalind (`gpt-6-rosalind`), released Friday, October 30 for approved life sciences research, costs $15.00 input, $1.50 cached and $75.00 output per million tokens. GPT-6 Astra for Law (`gpt-6-astra-law`) is listed at $10.00 input, $1.00 cached and $50.00 output at a promotional price through at least December 31, but it has no model page or changelog entry yet. Since November 1, OpenAI also charges a 10% uplift on FedRAMP endpoints.

Anthropic deprecated fast mode for Claude Opus 4.8, with removal on Monday, November 30; fast mode continues on Claude Opus 5.5. Its Max plan ($100 a month) and new Ultra plan ($200 a month) now include $100 and $200 a month in API credits. API token prices did not change.

Google changed prices only for its invite-only Contributor tier; Standard tier prices are unchanged. StepFun starts billing its StepAudio 3 voice models at 10:00 AM CT on Sunday, November 8, and raises some older voice model prices at the same time.

Not confirmed today: Amazon and ByteDance prices, Moonshot's per-search web search prices, IBM's model list, and Microsoft, which lists no pay-as-you-go prices. Their last confirmed prices stand. Performance scores in the chart are still as of October 16 and have not been refreshed since.

What This Means for Customers

- If your agents search the web through DeepSeek Harness, Claude Code or Codex, those Search and Fetch calls are now billable at $0.75 per 1,000 successful requests each. Check this week's invoice for the new line and keep it in a budget separate from token spend.
- If you start a new project on a new Moonshot account, start on `kimi-k3.1-pro`: K2 models are closed to accounts registered from October 31. Existing accounts keep K2 until retirement, which Moonshot dates only as the end of December, so plan the move by December 1.
- If you still call `mistral-medium-3-5` or `mistral-large-2512`, they keep working until April 30, 2027. Test `mistral-large-4` now: at $0.70 input and $2.10 output per million tokens, it costs less than Medium 3.5's last listed price ($1.50 and $7.50) but more than Large 3's ($0.50 and $1.50).

- If you use fast mode on `claude-opus-4-8`, those requests will return an error after November 30. Move fast-mode work to `claude-opus-5-5`, or drop the fast setting.
- If you call OpenAI through a FedRAMP endpoint, add 10% to your token budget from November 1. The standard global endpoint is unchanged.
- If you build on StepFun's StepAudio 3 voice models, the free period ends at 10:00 AM CT on Sunday, November 8. Realtime speech then bills at $0.125 per session minute, and any partial minute bills as a full minute.
- If you still run `gpt-4.1` or `gpt-4.1-mini` on OpenAI's own API, shutdown is January 14, 2027, and the replacement is `gpt-6-luna`.
- Claude Haiku 4.5 is still active. Anthropic lists its retirement as not sooner than October 15, 2026, a date that has passed, and still sets no date. Keep a tested fallback ready.

- No standard list token price changed on a generally available model since Friday's brief at any vendor I could confirm. The two new OpenAI models are limited-access, and the FedRAMP uplift applies only to those endpoints.
- Prices match the last confirmed figures at Anthropic, OpenAI, Google, xAI (Grok), DeepSeek, Moonshot, Z.ai, MiniMax, Mistral, Alibaba, Cohere, Meta, TypeSafe, Xiaomi, StepFun, Tencent and Perplexity.
- Mistral Medium 3.5 last listed at $1.50 input and $7.50 output per million tokens, and Mistral Large 3 at $0.50 and $1.50. Mistral no longer shows either price.
- Prices from Amazon and ByteDance could not be confirmed today, Moonshot's per-search prices did not display, IBM's model list could not be confirmed, and Microsoft lists no pay-as-you-go prices. Their last confirmed prices stand, unverified today.

- Tracked models: 1,934 (count as of October 25).
- Audited pricing, confirmed against the vendor's own published prices: 13.1% of the full tracked population.
- Unaudited pricing: 5.3%.
- The rest have no public per-token price (47.6%: self-hosted open weights, retired or unpublished) or are duplicate listings of another tracked model (34.0%).

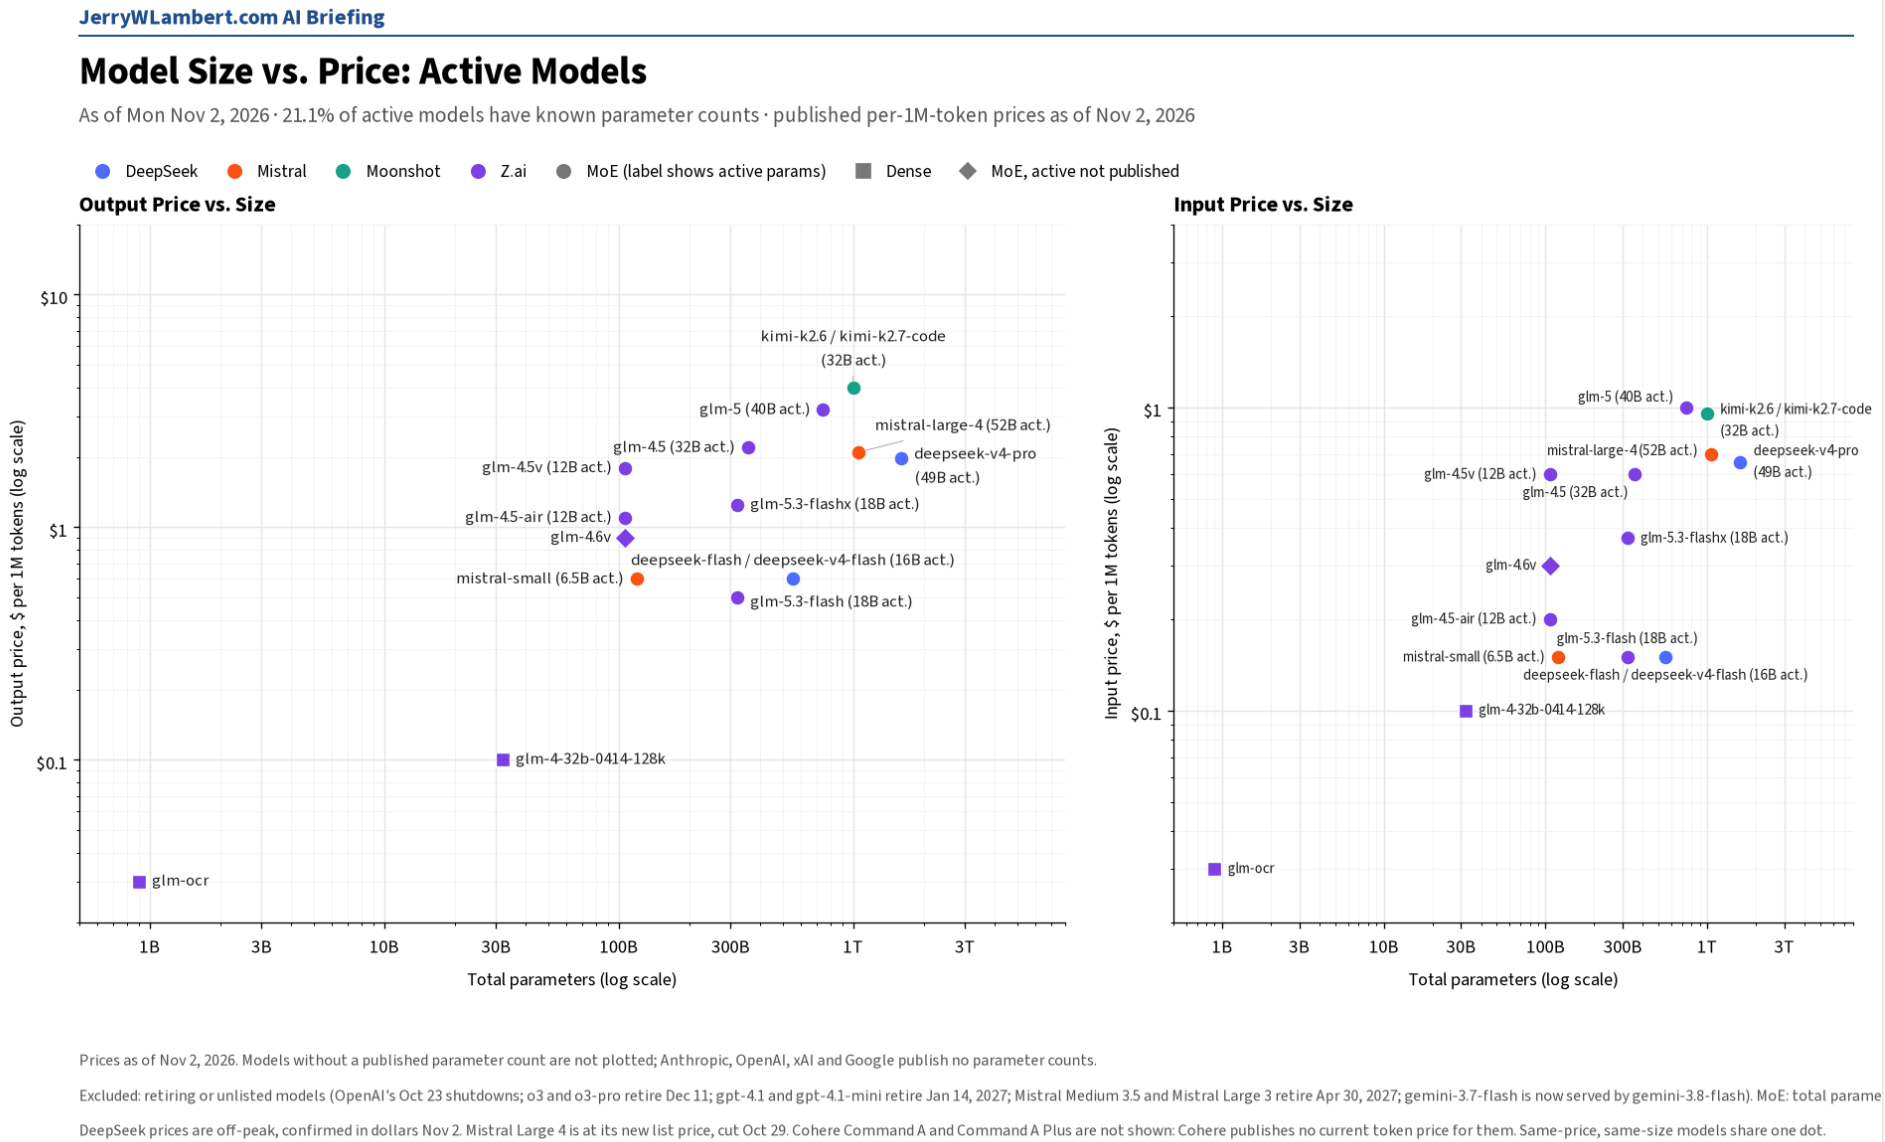

Agent Platforms

Hosted AI agents that come with their own persistent cloud computer.

- Grok Bot (xAI): its own persistent cloud computer. On the X Subscription it is included on Premium, Super and Ultra, draws from the same weekly usage pool as Cursor and the Grok apps, and prepaid credit covers usage past the pool. No change since Friday: the latest release is still v0.78.1 (dated October 27), and plan prices are unchanged.
- dots (OpenAI): not verified today. Last confirmed: a dot "has its own cloud computer," and the first comes with Pro and Business Premium at no extra cost.
- Muse (Meta): "You and your Muse share your own dedicated computer in the cloud." Runs on Muse Spark 1.3, whose API price is unchanged at $1.25 input, $0.15 cached and $4.25 output per million tokens. Billing is unverified today.
- Manus: the Cloud Computer add-on is a persistent server billed separately at $30 a month (2 vCPUs, 4 GB RAM, 70 GB storage) or $50 a month (2 vCPUs, 8 GB RAM, 120 GB storage). No change.
- Genspark Claw: runs "on a dedicated cloud computer provisioned just for you," which requires a Lite, Standard or Powerful Cloud Computer subscription; Genspark publishes no dollar amounts. No change.

Model Size vs. Price

Among active models with a known parameter count (21.1% of active models), price rises with total size (rank correlation 0.69 on output price). No plotted price changed since Friday; Mistral Medium 3.5 and Mistral Large 3 are no longer plotted because they are now set to retire. Anthropic, OpenAI, xAI and Google publish no parameter counts, so their models are not plotted. Prices as of November 2, 2026.

Price vs. Performance

Among active models with a performance score (55.3% of active models), price rises with performance only loosely (rank correlation 0.50 on output price). Claude Haiku 5.5 leads at $0.50 or less (43.4). At the frontier, Gemini 4 Argon scores 52.6 and GPT-6.1 Sol 51.8, each at $10 output, while xAI's Grok 4.7 scores 46.5 at $6. Scores as of October 16, 2026 (not refreshed since); prices as of November 2, 2026.
